1. The six photographs forwarded with reference were examined with the following conclusions:

The prisoner's hair part seems to take the same direction as that of Captain Perrine, with widening areas around the crown. The hair direction (grooming) also appears to be the same on both persons as well as the shape of the head at the crown. Based on only these two observable points, the undersigned feels the two Subjects are similar in type.

Without better photographs to compare, it is not possible to say that the prisoner is Captain Perrine.
